

Name:

Archetype you will use:

Plot Diagram Individual Brainstorm

Fill in the boxes with your individual ideas for your script. On the back you will share your ideas and agree as a group.

Scene 1: Exposition: The exposition is the introduction to a story, including the primary characters' names, setting, mood, and time.

Scene 2: Conflict: The conflict is the primary problem that drives the plot of the story, often a main goal for the protagonist to achieve or overcome.

Scene 3: Rising Action: The rising action of the story is all of the events that lead to the eventual climax, including character development and events that create suspense.

Scene 4: Climax: The climax is the most exciting point of the story, and is a turning point for the plot or goals of the main character.

Scene 5: Falling Action: The falling action is everything that happens as a result of the climax, including wrapping-up of plot points, questions being answered, and character development.

Scene 6: Resolution: The resolution is not always happy, but it does complete the story. It can leave a reader with questions, answers, frustration, or satisfaction.

Draft for Group Plot Diagram

Fill in the boxes with descriptions of each plot section after sharing your ideas with the group. This is a draft and will fill in your final ideas in your project packet.

Scene 1: Exposition: The exposition is the introduction to a story, including the primary characters' names, setting, mood, and time.

Scene 2: Conflict: The conflict is the primary problem that drives the plot of the story, often a main goal for the protagonist to achieve or overcome.

Scene 3: Rising Action: The rising action of the story is all of the events that lead to the eventual climax, including character development and events that create suspense.

Scene 4: Climax: The climax is the most exciting point of the story, and is a turning point for the plot or goals of the main character.

Scene 5: Falling Action: The falling action is everything that happens as a result of the climax, including wrapping-up of plot points, questions being answered, and character development.

Scene 6: Resolution: The resolution is not always happy, but it does complete the story. It can leave a reader with questions, answers, frustration, or satisfaction.